

Vacation/Migration Patterns

Due to natural and geographical barriers such as the Appalachian Mountains and the Atlantic Ocean combined with the location of the interstate highway system the corridor by which all the population of the Northeast must travel to all destinations in the Southeast and vice versa is accessed through Richmond via interstate 95.

Vacation/Migration Patterns

July 2006